Morning Sapphire, it was great to see so many of you yesterday, hopefully next week, we may see a few more faces.

Maths: Again today we're looking at Divide 2-digits by 1-digit. Watch this video Spr4.3.1 - Divide 2-digits by 1-digit \(3\) on Vimeo and have a go at the worksheet. There's also a challenge sheet for those who want it.

English: Today we're going to continue with our research about Sikhism, so that we can write a non-chronological report. I've added a power point which you need to look at as this will remind you of what to do. I've also included a poster, if you haven't got access to the power point, though I would recommend the power point if you can. Remember, you've written lots of good non-chronological reports and you know what to do. Research is really important, so you need to use books, video clips and internet to collect your facts and note them down. I've included a checklist to remind you of all the key features that need to be included for a good report. I've also added a page of good sentence openers at the end of the power point. This will help you get started with your sentences and make your text interesting to read. You can use the video clips and power point that I gave you yesterday for research and I've added a few more links. What is Sikhism? - BBC Bitesize, Sikhism - KS2 Religious Studies - BBC Bitesize. I don't expect you to finish this today, it will take a few lessons to complete. Enjoy exploring Sikhism, it's a fascinating religion.

Science: Today's lesson is about Heating and Cooling. Please see the sheet attached for further information.

Music: In this lesson you'll create a Diwali Zither Box. You'll need a shoe box/ tissue box or something similar, 6 elastic bands and 2 thick marker pens. The video shows you how to make a zither box and explores the instrument and the sounds it creates. Diwali Box Zither \(thenational.academy\).

Bad Teacher Joke:

Q. What did the policeman say to his tummy?

A. Freeze. You're under a vest.
