Morning Sapphire,

Maths: Today we are looking at Area, we've visited this before and it's always been quite good fun. As usual watch the video Spr4.4.1 - What is area? on Vimeo and have a go at the worksheet. There's also a challenge sheet for those who want it.

English: Today I want you to look at the features of a diary. It's not the same as writing a story and there are some different characteristics that you will need to include in your diary entry. It's essentially a recount of an experience, though in this situation, you are using your imagination to create your Ribereno character and write the experience through their eyes. Watch the video attached To understand the features of a diary \(thenational.academy\) and do the activity Analysis of a Diary, the instructions are on the sheet.

Music: Today you're going to start a unit called Pulse and Metre, the first session is Understanding Pulse and Rhythm. It's a really fun lesson and you'll need headphones (if you have them, don't worry if not), paper, pencil and your hands. Watch the following video Understanding pulse and rhythm \(thenational.academy\), do the activities and most importantly enjoy yourself.

Art: The Amazon river is in South America and moves through many countries. Today, I want you to explore some South American art. Joaquin Torres Garcia was famous for using symbols in his art. Watch the power point and have a go at creating your own symbols art that represents you and your life. You may want to do yours in the same style as his, his main influence was another artist at the same time called Mondrian. You may use paint, pencils or felt tips, whatever you have handy will be fine. A characteristic of South American art is vibrant colour, so really go for it and create something that is bright and uplifting.

Bad Teacher Joke:

Q: What did the artist draw before he went to bed?

A: The curtains!
