Class with the best attendance this week: Emerald

Dear parent/carer(s),

What a very quick week it has been and yet there is so much to celebrate! The children have certainly settled back into their routines.

This newsletter is going to be a few pages as there has been much wonderful learning. I alluded to the Lost Words poems and art last week, so here it is in all its glory. The performance of the poems was just beautiful! With a fair wind, we hope to be able to share these on the website and if not we will share the videos at the first open classroom event. It was wonderful to see our youngest children having the courage and confidence to stand in front of the school and perform on just their 6th day in school. Thanks must go to their year one classmates (and their teaching team) for supporting this.

Curriculum

So that you have information around the learning for your child this term, we will be sharing the learning pathways for each class. These show not only the context of the learning but also which specific knowledge, skill or area of understanding the children will be focussing on. These will be sent in a separate email on Monday, should you need to find them in the future, they will shortly be uploaded on to the class pages too.

Dates and Events

We have worked over the summer to map the out (and book) the curriculum experiences and enrichment events. We recognise that you value having these dates in good time, so the first events booked in for this term are included in this first newsletter. We will add these dates to the online calendar and will continue to add dates and communicate any changes throughout the term.

Thank you all for your continued support and positive comments. Thank you too for the discussions during the coffee morning. I look forward to being present at the next one.

In the meantime, if you have any questions or would like a conversation, do please let us know.

Mrs Harvey

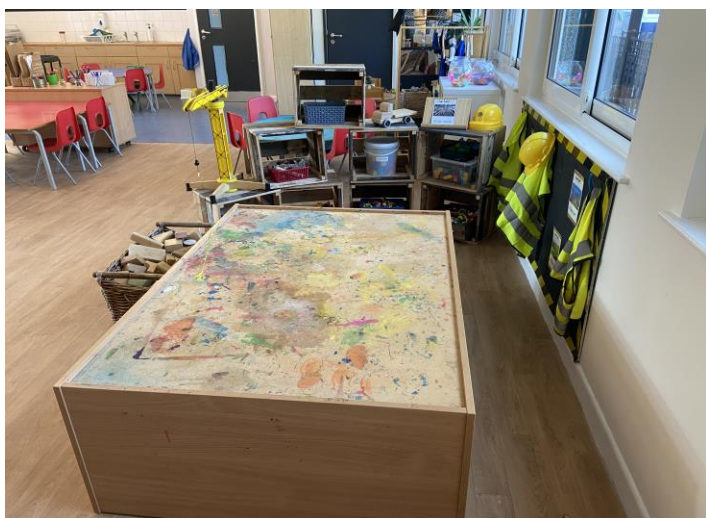

All Different, All Equal

The children and all members of staff in the school created a hand that reflected their personality and interests. We discussed with the children about how we are all different but all equal.

New Pearl Class environment

Over the summer Pearl class has undergone some changes and the children are enjoying their new enabling environment.

The school library

Over the summer the school library also underwent some changes and the children have been using this new space very respectfully.

Reminders

Please remember that we are a nut free school.

Please check all packed lunch items to ensure they are nut free.

Please do not use your mobile phone while on school site. Many thanks for your support.

Please walk your scooters and bikes into school when you pass through the first gate. We do not want any collisions!
